what all of these essays have in common aside from the rather broad subject designation of spiritual is a recognition that spiritual narrative has almost always co existed with its secular counterpart often in the same text and that it has served and continues to serve as the paradigm for narrative forms heretofore viewed in other contexts whether as fiction autobiography or political tract the complexity of vision offered in these readings is compelling and provocative the author provides the most extensive analysis available of ancient jewish letter writing from the persian period until the early rabbinic literature in addition he demonstrates the significance of jewish letters for the development of early christian letter writing the book contains the editio princeps of mattia palmieri s mid fifteenth century latin translation of herodotus histories almost contemporary or even earlier than that by lorenzo valla it also investigates the intellectual and historical milieu in which palmieri produced it as preparatory work for his historical works and to secure patronage under a church prelate by offering it to cardinal prospero colonna it includes some information on palmieri s life and work and herodotus fortuna a brief comparison between palmieri s and valla s translations palmieri s greek model and livy s influence on him in language and style it finally approaches some methodological issues related to editing a text preserved in authorially revised versions because the translation shows three different stages of revision this first approach of herodotus by western scholars is significant because herodotus was foremost read as a quarry of information of ethnographical geographical historical and anthropological nature in order for the europeans to understand peoples they encountered on their exploratory voyages and the ottomans who were considered as descendants of the persians
